Named Cage Coach Here

Clinton J. McConnell, 36, formerly of Ashtabula Edgewood, has been named head basketball coach at East Liverpool High School.

At a brief special meeting Wednesday night, the Board of Education hired McConnell in a unanimous 5-0 vote acting on a recommendation by Supt. Paul Blair. He was given a two-year contract.

McConnell replaces Frank Chan, who was relieved of his duties by a 3-2 vote June 6 at a meeting of the Board of Education. Chan's dismissal was followed by protests from a citizen's committee at a stormy board session.

McCONNELL compiled a 31-30 record over a three-year period at Edgewood, a Class AA High School near Ashtabula.

Before directing basketball at Edgewood, McConnell was head coach at John Glenn High School in New Concord.

In his first season at Edgewood, his team compiled a 6-13 mark, but in the following season (1964-65) the school posted a 16-6 record, won the Sectional tournament title and was runnerup for the district crown.

Last year, the record was 9 and

11. Edgewood also shared the Western Reserve League championship and was co-champions in the city series.

Blair pointed out that the superintendent of schools at Edgewood termed McConnell "above average in the field of history and geography" when questioned as to his teaching background. Blair said McConnell qualifies in six different fields as a teacher.

JACK WOOMER, board member who earlier had cast one of the two votes in favor of retaining Chan, commented last night that "after talking with McConnell, I was impressed and will give him my support. But we still have some work to do in our own program to assure that he will receive cooperation from others when he arrives. I wasn't pleased with the way the Chan situation was handled. And I wasn't pleased with the lateness in which the action was taken."

Samuel W. Brown, the other board member who had voted in favor of Chan, said: "Ditto on what Mr. Woomer said."

Sen. Kennedy Gives ViewsFair Viet Election Tied To U.S. Policy Support

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said today the fair election of a civilian government offers the best hope of gaining world support for American actions in Viet Nam.

Kennedy, New York Democrat who has contended the Johnson administration has not gone far enough in trying to get peace talks under way, said the escalated bombing of North Viet Nam targets is going to make more difficult any attempts to negotiate an end to the fighting.

Wednesday's bombing of oil storage facilities in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas also dims the possibility for major talks he had said the United States ought to have with Red China, Kennedy added. He said any Southeast Asia settlement would involve China.

In a wide-ranging interview with The Associated Press, Kennedy, who is a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in the future, said:

The International Control Commission made up of Canada, India and Poland should be asked to supervise the preparations and actual voting in the projected September South Viet Nam elections.

Final Exam Set Friday In Officers' Training

LISBON — Final examinations will be given Friday at the Columbiana County Peace Officers Training School in David Anderson High School here.

Eighteen men are completing the 120-hour course in law enforcement duties, a new state requirement of any peace officer appointed since Jan. 1 this year.

Students practiced marksmanship Tuesday and Wednesday. Classes began June 6 at the Village Hall and moved to the high school June 9 after school closed for the summer.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan, school commander, will conduct the exam. He and Police Chief William McGuckin of Columbiana were coordinators.

'Double Appeal' Filed In Local Injury Case

A Common Pleas Court Judgment appealed June 10 by Mrs. Callie Knight of 915 Lisbon St., plaintiff in a personal injury case, is being appealed also by the defendant — the city of East Liverpool.

City Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper filed the city's notice of appeal to the 7th District Appellate Court Tuesday in the Columbiana County clerk of courts office at the Courthouse in Lisbon.

Mrs. Knight sued the city for $50,000, claiming permanent injuries from a fall on a hillside stairway in 1963. She claimed the city had not kept the stairway in good repair.

A jury returned a $30,000 verdict for her in February 1965. She appealed this month because Judge Raymond S. Buzard allowed the city's motion for a new trial on her refusal to accept a $17,500 cut in the jury verdict.

The court found the verdict "excessive" as to the amount of damages and against the weight of the evidence and reduced the verdict to $12,500.

Cooper appealed on questions of law. The court overruled the city's motion for a directed verdict at the end of the trial and also overruled a motion for a

Both were headed west when Brown halted to make a left turn onto a township road, officers said. His car was struck in the rear by Hall's. Hall was cited for failure to stop in the proper passing.

Cars operated by Clyde M. St. Homeworth, was admitted to Alliance City Hospital with injuries suffered when he wrecked his car on County Rd. 401, a mile south of Route 62 at 8:20 p.m.

He was northbound when Richardson started to pass Wilson. Richardson lost control of his car and sideswiped the Wilson vehicle, officers reported. Richardson was cited for impeded clear distance.

James C. Franzt, 24, of Chardon, 17, of Columbiana, was cited for failure to stop in the proper passing.

Charles E. Hutchison, 21, of Grant St., Lisbon, escaped serious injury when his car reaction of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was not unexpected. Wilson had expressed regret over the bombings and said Britain was unable to support the action.

Reaction

Wilson's statement drew a sharp retort Wednesday night from Duncan Sandys, a Conservative legislator.

Sandys, a Cabinet minister in the last Tory government and former son-in-law of the late Sir Winston Churchill, said Wilson's criticism was "a stab in the back which will long be resented in the United States."

Initial reaction from the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, India and the United Nations was critical.

The Soviets called the raids "international piracy." A Yugoslav newspaper said "the world is facing a new escalation of the war that is more dangerous than any so far."

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant expressed regret. In New Delhi, Indian Foreign Minister Swaran Singh expressed "deep concern and distress."

From his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower issued a statement supporting President Johnson's decision to hit the oil depots. He said the President advised him of his decision before the action was taken.

Eisenhower said the decision "was in my opinion, a military necessity and I support it." He added, "It will help minimize casualties and loss of life among our allies and America's fighting men in Viet Nam."

Richard M. Nixon, who served as vice president under Eisenhower, called for stepped up use of air and naval power to bring the war to a swift conclusion.

While leaders at home and abroad voiced their views,

Johnson maintained a public silence on the bombings. He met Wednesday night at the White House with about 30 Congress members who had made visits to South Viet Nam. It was his second session in two weeks with members who had visited Saigon.

American fliers in South Viet Nam Wednesday night jubilantly described the raids as spectacular. One Air Force officer said, "We completely destroyed the target." Thick columns of smoke were sighted as high as 35,000 feet over the target areas.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported the pilot of the U.S. plane that was shot down was paraded through the streets of Hanoi by an angry mob of North Vietnamese.

The Soviet news agency identified the flier as Air Force Capt. Murphy Neal Jones, 28, and said he was attached to Tactical Fighter Squadron 333, Tactical Fighter Wing 355 stationed at Takli.

In Washington, the Defense Department said a Capt. Murphy Neal Jones of Baton Rouge, La., had been officially listed as missing, but declined further comment.

On Capitol Hill, the dispute over the bombings broke party lines into rough groupings of hawks and doves.

It found the Senate Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, supporting Johnson's decision.

It found Democrats like Senate Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York regretting the decision and Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon calling the bombings "shocking outlawry."

Despite quick backing from some top Republicans and quick criticism from some top Democrats, Johnson also had support for the bombings from his own party and critics among the opposition.

The chairmen of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees—Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C.—saluted the decision.

As for the possibility of the bombings drawing China into the war, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, the ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, observed: "That's a risk we've got to take."

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee concurred with Mansfield that the bombings will make it more difficult to reach a negotiated settlement and added: "There is probably a much greater chance now that there will be only a military decision."

Hanoi is described as looking like a ghost city, deeply marked by austerity and harsh discipline. People have been digging trenches, shelters and underground tunnels everywhere.

Haiphong, a city of 370,000, is much the same. The principal port, which supplies the nation with goods from the outside, resembles an armed camp.

The bombings can increase the two cities' woes immeasurably. There is even a threat of breaking the Red River dikes on which the rice crop depends.

If Hanoi's will to carry on the war in such conditions was a matter of its own choice, attacks shattering public morale might bear fruit. But Red China is in the background, a huge neighbor flexing muscle and claiming domination of all Asia.

If Militarists Guess Wrong

If our militarists are right, bombing fuel dumps near Hanoi and Haiphong has made the undeclared enemy in Viet Nam yearn for an early beginning of negotiations to end the undeclared war being waged there by the United States.

Militarists are men of direct action.

They always think in a straight line. The shortest distance to a cessation of fighting is to destroy the enemy and his ability to fight.

If this were also the shortest distance to peace, militarists would be the peace-keepers as well as war-makers. But it has been proved twice in this century that a cessation of fighting and peace are not the same. Hence, the League of Nations and the United Nations, created to find something better both have failed.

BOMBING fuel dumps near Hanoi and Haiphong will not cause the undeclared enemy in Viet Nam to plead for peace.

If our would-be statesmen are right, escalating the rate of military violence in this way will give the Chinese People's Republic and the Soviet Union powerful reason to escalate their aid to the Vietnamese who are fighting the United States.

These two Communist-oriented nations do not want the United States to win in Southeast Asia. They want it to bleed itself into a state of frustration as far as imposing its will on Asians is concerned.

Tempest In A Cuckoo's Nest

Every time the law cracks down on a newspaper reporter who refuses to tell how he found out something the law wanted to know without having to do the leg work, there is danger of public confusion.

The lay public gets the mistaken idea that a reporter like the student editor at the University of Oregon owes it to law enforcement to reveal the names of the marijuana smokers she interviewed for the campus newspaper.

No newspaper person owes it to anyone to reveal the names of persons who have been told their names would not be disclosed.

The relationship between a reporter and a

Russians and Chinese have their own version of the Monroe Doctrine, which barred the New World to Old World domination. They want the New World and Europe to stay out of Asia.

The statesmen are more likely to be right about the escalation than the militarists. The United States has enlarged the war.

ALSO LIKELY to be right are mass psychologists, who have been pointing out that the image of the United States in Southeast Asia now is one of heavy-handed terrorism.

The United States wants to win. It has told millions of Asians who are not combatants that it would rather have them dead than Red if they get in the way.

Carrying U.S. aerial bombing deep into the Republic of Viet Nam will bring retaliation. It is equally certain that the undeclared war will have to be stepped up and up and up as more millions of Asians are drawn into it.

This has turned out to be quite a lesson that John F. Kennedy undertook to teach Nikita Khrushchev for his effrontery in Cuba. Khrushchev now is living in retirement, the Russians haven't lost a man so far and the United States is teetering on the brink of another military confrontation by 700-million-plus Chinese, plus 230 million Russians.

If the militarists are guessing wrong again, this could be the war that would end all wars—at last.

source of confidential information is as rigorously codified in newspaper ethics as the relationship between a lawyer and his client.

This is known to all lawyers and judges. Yet, they persistently try to break down the code for their own convenience.

Every so often, they lend themselves to another showdown with the profession of journalism, trying cuckoo-like to move into an area of information they lacked initiative or means to develop for themselves.

They must never be allowed to get away with it, even if it means letting them misuse their legal power to put somebody in jail.

By James Marlow

showed for him in the early days has gone down steadily, and not just in popularity.

This month a Gallup poll showed only 46 per cent of the people questioned approved Johnson's handling of the war, compared with 63 per cent last January.

Gradually Johnson reached a point that others before him had to face: That a president is a leader and may have to act for what he considers the good of the country even if popular opinion isn't with him.

And this month he sent an aide a quote from Sir Winston Churchill on the danger of relying on polls: "Nothing is more dangerous than to live in the temperamental atmosphere of a Gallup poll, always taking one's pulse and taking one's temperature."

"There is only one duty, one safe course, and that is to try to be right and not to fear to do or say what you believe to be right."

A LEGISLATIVE body like Congress has to be more sensitive and responsive to consensus since the 535 members more directly represent the views of the people in their states and districts.

A president must be concerned about the people's wishes, and try to fulfill them when he is convinced they are in the national interest. But he has more information than anyone else.

And when he is faced with a decision on what he considers a national necessity, even though contrary to public opinion, he has the obligation to make it. Otherwise he is not a leader, but a follower.

In doing so, he may be undermining his political future. It is, nevertheless, a president's task to make it. There's no indication yet that Johnson's decision to hit the oil depots may injure him.

Kennedy 'Doves' Find Hat Nest

By Victor Riesel

In the rag jungle known as the garment area, the wits now talk of Bob Kennedy becoming a cutter of men's clothes.

They say he's cutting down Lyndon Johnson's coattails as more and more of the loyalists jump off because the President is standing steadfastly by his Viet Nam policies.

For the first time this Kennedyism is beginning to cut its way into even the coalition which has existed between Mr. Johnson and veteran labor leaders who have spent many long and private hours inside the White House.

Most startling—and significant—infestation of the doves has developed inside the Liberal party, which is strongly led by the Hatters' Alex Rose, long an intimate of Mr. Johnson.

Not only has Rose clasped hands and locked arms with Sen. Kennedy, but he has for the first time permitted criticism of the President and the White House to appear in his union newspaper, "The Hat Worker."

As the house organ of Rose's Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers' Union, "The Hat Worker" is carefully followed by sophisticated politicos, liberals, old-line politicians and the newer, younger peace-peasants and reformers, who are welling up from the bohemian streets and rebel clubs.

IT SHOULD BE RECALLED that it was Rose who first threw the Liberal party cloak around Mr. Johnson back in 1963 and brought him into New York when the then vice president was on uninvited political footing.

It is the Liberal party, until recently virtually all trade unionist, which is so much the balance of power that the New York Democrats will not nominate a gubernatorial candidate in September without its approval.

Evidence of this is an unreported conference in an East Side steak house in mid-June. Present were Rose, Democratic State Chairman John Burns and several others.

They talked of a candidate and Rose was reported willing to go along for a while on all hopefuls except Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

So Alex Rose, the essence of brilliant political strategy, and his union newspaper are political weather vanes.

The chronicling of the making of a president in '68 and '72 will have to take full measure of what happens inside the Liberal party and the New York State Democratic party — just as was the case in 1960 and the years which followed.

What startled the insiders, therefore, was to read in "The Hat Worker" not only favorable reports on Rose's visit with Lyndon Johnson but a critical piece on the visit of labor press editors to the White House one recent afternoon.

The article, written by an attractive lady called Lucy Komisar, begins with an editor's introduction reminding the readers that she picketed the White House not too long ago.

THE OPENING PARAGRAPH, sharper than much of the report, says: "The last time I saw the White House I was walking on a picket line to protest Lyndon Johnson's policy in Viet Nam.

"I believe that his decision to prosecute the war there was a futile and even immoral one that was doomed to failure. I believe it still."

The pretty Miss Komisar, "The Hat Workers'" "editorial associate," winds up her piece by stating that she "may be picketing" again, despite her visit to the "crisp, white, sprawling edifice where hidden men determine the future of millions of people . . ."

She states that "labor must be doubly concerned about the war in Viet Nam because it is draining away the funds that should be used to beef up our social programs . . ."

This does not reflect the official position of the Hat Union or the national AFL-CIO.

But Miss Komisar's swift prose and derring-do did not anger the union's leader. He is accustomed to swift changes in styles.

"THE LABOR MOVEMENT," said Rose, "is not monolithic. There is a small minority which has a viewpoint of the dove. And the president himself favors free expression of opinion."

"We in our newspaper believe in the freedom of the press. No matter what difference of opinion exists, it always is better to have people of conviction than without any convictions inside a union."

"The overwhelming majority of our union membership supports the President and they yearn for peace just as President Johnson and I do."

For a hawk, it was a gracious statement. But most certainly, he did not pounce on the dove.

This is a new era. It is, after all, not 1965.

Power Grab?

Federal Domination Questioned

An unusual issue in American government has just been raised. For, in effect, the federal government is demanding that the mayor of a city and his police chief provide "reasonable" protection for demonstrators or receive punishment for negligence.

Just how can a federal court tell a local government what is "reasonable" protection? What are the standards of measurement? Must a mayor put a specific number of police on duty and must they be given instructions to arrest everybody who engages in a David Lawrence riot so as to prevent further disturbances?

President Johnson has been accused by various Negro leaders of failing to give adequate protection to the marchers in Mississippi. So the administration now has intervened in a federal court and demanded that proper protection be given to Negroes. The suit charges that when Negro marchers led by the Rev. Martin Luther King were engaged in a stone-throwing and a fist-swinging battle with local whites which later resulted in gunfire in and around Philadelphia, Miss., the authorities did not do their duty. The Justice Department names as defendants the mayor, the police chief and the Board of Aldermen and alleges that they failed to provide protection for the Negroes though there was advance notice of the march.

IF THERE IS A LEGAL justification for imposing penalties on the mayor and police chief and other officials of a city, then presumably the federal judiciary now can order the removal of all such officers, even up to the governor of a state.

The statute under which the Department of Justice intervened in the case, which was originally filed by Negro leaders, is Title IX, Section 902, of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which reads as follows:

"Whenever an action has been commenced in any court of the United States seeking relief from the denial of equal protection of the laws under the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution on account of race, color, religion, or national origin, the attorney general for or in the name of the United States may intervene in such action upon timely application if the attorney general certifies that the case is of general public importance. In such action the United States shall be entitled to the same relief as if it had instituted the action."

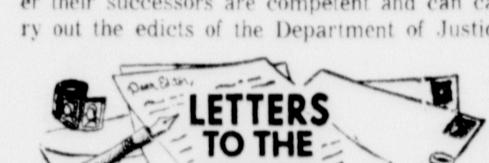

The attorney general asked the court to order the local authorities to "give and enforce instructions that law enforcement officers take steps which are reasonably necessary to protect others from assault, harassment or intimidation that discourages the exercise of federally protected rights" and to "discipline law enforcement officers who have failed to perform assigned duties concerning the protection of persons engaged in the exercise of federally protected rights."

THIS MEANS that the United States government is demanding of state, county and city governments a certain kind of protection for "civil rights" demonstrators and that the federal courts will appraise the steps taken and, if these are judged inadequate, will impose punishment. Presumably the removal of local officers now can be ordered as a form of "discipline."

The purpose of the Fourteenth Amendment was to prevent discrimination by reason of race or color, but no evidence has been presented that in the demonstration at Philadelphia, Miss., the police gave protection to whites while they failed to provide it to Negroes. The probabilities are that there were not enough police available to prevent the mobs from gathering or to control them when the disturbances began.

If the federal government has the power to intervene and to determine the efficiency of local police forces, then Northern cities, too, may soon expect a similar procedure through complaints filed in the federal courts by the Department of Justice.

THE RESPONSIBILITY for the management of a police force rests primarily with the mayor of the city and the police chief. If the federal government has the right to intervene and if the courts uphold such demands, the inevitable result is to put in the hands of the federal government the power to remove the mayor and the police chief and to pass judgment on whether their successors are competent and can carry out the edicts of the Department of Justice.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW

There are two flags that are flown in or near Newell — the one at the Homer Laughlin China Co. and the other at the home of American Legion Post 114.

This is a deplorable but a true fact.

The U.S. post office does not display the flag. The Globe Brick Co. does not. None of the merchants, churches or the Newell volunteer fire department display a flag.

Last of all, the John F. Kennedy Memorial Park does not have a flag, which, of course, is the fault of the Hancock County commissioners who have the care of the park in their hands.

At any time these facts are all too noticeable, but especially at a time when our boys (many from Newell) are fighting and dying in Viet Nam. It is really too much for me to understand. Why Newell?

an enlisted man, may not claim dependency allotments.

In addition to receiving pay equal to that of men in the same grade, women also get the same retirement benefits. Social Security and medical - hospital care. The promotions in grade operate on the same basis as for men.

IT IS possible for enlisted women to become officers, but the number is small. As examples, about two per cent of the WAVE officers are former enlisted personnel; less than one per cent for WAFs.

The WACs say that 90 per cent of their officers are college graduates commissioned after taking courses in officer training schools. Women may enlist in the WACs and, if they have had two years of college, seek a commission through the officer candidate school. More women Marines move up from enlisted ranks: 16 per cent of the present officers are former enlisted women.

Women are barred by law from being assigned to combat in any form, on the land, in combat planes or aboard military ships other than transports or hospital ships.

However, service women are assigned overseas, usually to big U.S. bases or headquarters in such places as Europe, Japan, Okinawa, Hawaii, the Caribbean area.

Except for certain provisions in choice under the WAC program, enlisted women in the services get no guarantee of specialist training for an assignment of their own choice. During basic training, assignment for specialty training is made, using as a guide aptitude tests, civilian background, educational abilities and similar factors.

THE GREATER portion of women in what is labeled as "administrative" assignments — clerical work, typing, record-keeping. Many are in communications, including not only radio but radar and traffic control towers at air bases. Some work as medical or dental technicians, assigned to hospitals. Others may become office workers in military intelligence or photo interpreting or photo mapping.

About 8,500 women are in the nurse corps of the Army, Navy and Air Force now, but there is need for many more. (The Army has some male nurses, comprising about 17 per cent of the present nurse corps strength.)

Fully-qualified nurses in military service must be registered professionals, and are given officer rank. This makes recruiting more of a problem than for other categories in the military nurse service, especially since the military must compete with heavy demand for registered nurses in the civilian field.

However, there are some educational programs available for women who make the service a career, leading to eventual promotion to registered nurse rank.

The professional nurses of the military are in addition to WAC, WAVES and WAF enlisted personnel who are assigned to aid in phases of the medical programs in the United States and overseas.

Clarification Presented On Miller's Post

CHARLESTON (W.Va.) — West Virginia University President Paul A. Miller has been offered a position as consultant to the assistant secretary of education and not the post of assistant secretary of education itself, Charleston television station WCHS reported Thursday.

The station said an unidentified source in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Miller had been offered the consultant's post which would enable him to remain as WVU president.

Charleston newspapers reported in their Wednesday editions that Miller would be offered the job of assistant secretary of education.

Miller, who is vacationing out of state, has been unavailable for comment.

Man Will Pay
Victim $340
For Stabbing

James G. Duck, 39, of 511 18th St., Wellsville, will have to pay Charles R. Murphy of Wellsville $340 for lost work and medical expenses resulting from a stabbing.

The father of four children, Duck pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery Wednesday in Columbiana County Southwest Court at Lisbon.

Wellsville police accused Duck of stabbing Murphy with a screwdriver June 11 outside a tavern and fled an affidavit of stabbing.

Duck pleaded not guilty at arraignment June 21. Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis agreed yesterday to accept the plea to the lesser charge.

Acting Judge Richard B. Kennedy placed Duck on probation for one year and ordered the payment as a condition. The punishment, including a suspended $100 fine and 30 days in jail, was the recommendation of the prosecutor after a conference with the defendant's counsel, Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara and William Tezel of Wellsville.

Judge Kennedy told Duck he was lucky since the original charge was a felony. He ordered him not to associate with Murphy—if you can't get along just stay away from him entirely. Duck also has to pay $28.13 court costs.

Canton Man Hurt In Fall At Lake

LISBON — A Canton man received a concussion at 8 p.m. Wednesday when he hit his head on the deck of a diving board at Whiteman's Beach, Gulf Ford Lake.

Water Morgan of 2611 12th St. S.W. was unconscious for 30 minutes. Maple's ambulance of Kensington took him to Salem Central Clinic, where he was admitted for observation.

Walter Burbick, Gulf Ford Lake State Park manager, said other swimmers carried the unconscious man ashore and Gulf Ford Park personnel frenziedly administered oxygen until the ambulance arrived.

Burbick said witnesses told him the man lost his footing on the slippery planks. They said the blow did not cut his scalp. Morgan, in his 40s, is a stepson of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnson, who operate Johnson's corner on the dam at Gulford.

Firemen said the car has an electric system to raise and lower windows. There was no apparent damage to the motor, they said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I stared in disbelief at your reply to the man who helped the little girl in the men's room of the church recently. To refresh your memory: A little girl about 4 years old wandered in the men's bathroom and pleaded, "I have to go. Please help me."

The man did help the little lady in distress and then, as he was leading her out, one of the other men berated him for having taken such a chance.

"We all could have been arrested on a phony molesting charge," he said. "Don't make such a stupid mistake again."

The gallant gentleman wrote to ask you if the guy was right. When you backed him up I almost dropped my eyeglasses in the coffee.

I am no Philadelphia lawyer but it seems to me that if a man of good intentions and good character can be arrested on a molesting charge for assisting a child in a church restroom, then some of our laws need changing.

It's a good thing you aren't a ball player, Ann. You'd be riding the bench for that one. — DULUTH DUKE.

Dear Duke: When you said some of our laws need changing you weren't just clickin' your molars, Dad. If you knew how many innocent people have spent fortunes defending themselves against phony charges, you'd drop a lot more than your glasses.

I've said it before and I'll say it again, if a little girl wanders into a men's room and you happen to be in there, skip the Good Samaritan act and get her out of there fast. You may be a sterling character of fine reputation but some trouble-making So-and-So could muddy you up so fast your head would swim.

Unjust Criticism

Dear Ann: Two days ago our cat, Tuesday, ran up a tree and stationed himself on a branch about 15 feet from the ground. The tree is on a steep, rocky hill, which means it would not be easy to use a ladder there.

The night Tuesday ran up the tree we called the Animal Rescue League. They said they were very busy and short-handed but that they would try to send a man in a day or so if they possibly could find somebody.

This morning I called the league again and they said someone had been out — last night. The man they sent decided the tree was in a very dangerous spot and that he was not going to risk his life trying to get the cat down. He left without even ringing our doorbell to tell us of his decision.

I asked the man on the phone what we should do. He replied, "Wait a few days and the cat will come down by himself." He didn't say whether the cat would be dead or alive.

I think it is just horrible that people call themselves rescuers of animals and then refuse to help an animal in distress. Please print my letter and your comments.—UP A TREE.

Dear Up: By the time you read this reply Tuesday will have come down — alive.

I'm told by a woman who works with the Anti-Cruelty League of Chicago that in her 18 years of experience she never has heard of a tree cat that didn't come down on his own — eventually.

Your sweeping accusation that animal rescue people do not bother themselves to rescue animals is unjust. I have heard and read about many who have gone to extraordinary limits to save animals. (Your apologies are accepted.)

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

—By Heloise Cruse—

Dear Heloise: For all those mothers who try to live on budgets, and make lots of spaghetti sauce, and have a little dab left, try this:

Reheat this little leftover sauce and spill some on top of some scrambled eggs! It's absolutely the greatest.

I learned this on a trip to Mexico.

I don't know the Mexican name for it, but I'm sure that one of your housewives could find one.

EARL BOWEN.

Who has to have a name to serve it?

My husband has tested it and eaten it for months.

The Mexicans also serve chile on scrambled eggs. I don't know the name of that either, but it sure is great.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Does everyone know that long pants come off the clothesline almost ready to wear if they have been hung by the cuffs? Hang one cuff on one line, the other on the next line, with inseams at center of each cuff, and pin each leg with three clothespins.

There is hardly a wrinkle.

BUNNY.

DEAR HELOISE: Since portable, plastic swimming pools are now being set up, perhaps someone else is having the same trouble I had.

It is hard to buy the plastic clamps that hold the pool to the top edge. If you have lost some of the clamps, or they are broken, take an old plastic garden hose, cut pieces to desired length and make a slit in one side.

These are better than the clamps that come with the pool and hold it in place beautifully.

J. V. SNYDER.

DEAR HELOISE: For a cool and inexpensive, strapless nightgown for the hot summer weather, take two yards of lightweight material and cut it in half (crosswise, of course!).

Sew the sides of the two pieces of material together, make a hem in the top and run elastic through it, then hem the bottom, and you're finished!

This eliminates straps and sleeves and is as comfortable as can be. Rickrack or bows give the gowns a cute finishing touch.

MRS. J. R.

This is really a "cool" idea, and wouldn't the gowns be darling for little girls?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: A dish mop (kept just for this purpose) makes a good duster for hard to get at places.

MRS. LEO BUCKLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: While camping, I threw some used wax (coated) paper cups in the grill.

They burned so well I started saving them for a fire starter.

Now I use the cups, plus the egg cartons with charcoal in each section that you suggested.

Really makes a quick fire.

MRS. CLYDE WRIGHT.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who roll the ends of their hair with bobby pins, here's a trick that saves all the pain of sleeping on the pins.

First, put on a head band and pull hair out over the band. Then roll hair ends and fasten the curls to the band with bobby pins.

MRS. R. S. TOWELL.

DEAR HELOISE: I have devised a good place to store my trading stamps until I'm ready to paste them in the books.

I staple a medium (letter) size envelope to the inside back cover of a stamp book. The envelope sticks out of the book about one-quarter of an inch. This is an advantage because I can easily find the envelope when I have more stamps to put into it.

When one book is filled, I detach the envelope and staple it onto the next one.

Famed Hotel In New York Calls It Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hotel Astor, which has stood along gaudy Times Square like a maiden aunt for nearly 62 years, calls it quits today.

This morning her last 150 guests will check out, the 450 employees will leave their jobs, and the wrecking crew will take over. The Astor, a Broadway landmark, is coming down to make way for a 40-story office building.

"It's sad. Any passing is sad," said Erwin O. Schel, the hotel's general manager.

Henry Potberg, the assistant bell captain, looked across the red-carpeted lobby and said: "The Astor's just out of this world. It's been like a second home to me. I've spent half of my life here."

For years the Astor was home to presidents and show business people. Every president since 1933 has stayed at the hotel, and once, according to a favorite Astor legend, a man went to sleep thinking he was president — and woke up a loser.

He was Charles Evans Hughes, who bedded down in the presidential suite in 1916 after hearing the favorable early returns. But during the night the California vote came in and put Woodrow Wilson in the White House.

The lobby of the Astor didn't look like a hotel on its last night. Guests still were checking in, and Schel said the hotel had to turn down hundreds of reservations that continued to pour in.

In the past 20 years New York has lost 33 hotels. On the same day the Astor closes, the Sheraton-East on Park Avenue also closes its doors. Nonetheless, New York has more hotel rooms now than it did in 1945 because of the new skyscraper hotels that have gone up-and the emergence of motor hotels in Manhattan.

Woman Driver Hurt When Car Hits Truck

A 19-year-old woman suffered a bruised mouth when her car struck the rear of a halted city-owned truck at 7:56 a.m. today on Henry Ave., police reported.

The 1959 four-door sedan operated by Mary Jane Summers, 19, of Harrison St. struck a 1955 model flatbed truck owned by the city water department and driven by Abe B. Samberson, 44, of 1624 Cleveland Ave., officers said. The young woman bumped her mouth on the interior of the auto as a result of the collision, police said. She reported she would consult her family doctor.

Samberson said he had just backed out of a private driveway and was halted in the street when the auto bumped the truck. The young woman reported she had rounded a turn and was blinded by the sun just before the impact.

Canton Man Forfeits $17 On Patrol Charge

Raphael B. Miller of Canton forfeited a $17.50 appearance bond today in Municipal Court on charges filed by the State Highway Patrol after his auto allegedly bumped the rear of a halted motor scooter Sunday at the junction of Routes 170 and 30 at Substation.

Miller was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Meanwhile, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered a bench warrant issued for the arrest of James Griffith of Main St. Wellsville, who failed to appear for a scheduled hearing.

Griffith also was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance. The patrol said his auto hit the rear of another vehicle Sunday as it slowed for a rock slide on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Truck Kills Woman

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Lucy F. Wolfe, 83, of Cleveland, Ohio, was killed here Wednesday, apparently the victim of a passing truck. The victim was found dead with severe head injuries after the truck passed by where she was crossing a street.

New York City subways carried Klembara, Downard and Jimiray over 4.7 million passengers a day. Burcham reported they will be June 10 and carry a closing date

Injuries Prove Fatal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brig Gen. Leigh Cole Fairbank (Ret.), 76, a former chief of the Army Dental Corps, died

Wednesday of injuries suffered in an automobile accident earlier this month. Fairbank headed the Dental Corps from 1938 to 1942. The citation to court was issued Wednesday when they appeared before Juvenile Officer James Miller at City Hall.

Police said Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne learned details of the theft and turned over the information to Police Capt. Robert H. Pyle, leading to the citation for the youths.

4 Cars Are Involved In Pileup In Hancock

Four autos were involved in an accident shortly after 7 this morning on Route 30 near the east intersection of State Route 2, the Hancock County sheriff's office reports.

A 1966 car was totally demolished and the three other vehicles were moderately damaged, according to the report.

Betty Mae Brewer, 37, of Laurel Heights, Chester R.D. 1, was attempting to make a left-hand turn toward the nearby National Church Supply plant when her 1963 model car was struck in the rear by a new auto driven by Joseph W. Greenwood, 18, of Rogers R.D. 1.

Greenwood's vehicle in turn was struck from behind by a 1964 two-door sedan operated by Frite Binder, 69, of 417 Prospect St., East Liverpool.

A westbound 1966 four-door sedan driven by Gerald Robert Chafin, 62, of 536 Palisette St., East Liverpool, also became involved in the pileup.

A possible injury resulted to Bender who declined hospital examination and treatment, according to deputies.

Binder and Greenwood were charged with failure to have their vehicles under control.

Bible School Ends Sessions At New Salem Church Event

"God Lives Today" was the theme for the New Salem Presbyterian Vacation Bible School June 20-24.

Daily devotions and catechism were led by the director, Mrs. Charles R. Chaffin.

The schedule included Bible storytellers Mrs. Harry Hammond Monday - Wednesday and David Hammond on Thursday.

Books of the Bible were reviewed by Miss Peggy Townsend.

Charles Townsend Jr. talked to the children on how we can know that God is alive today. Mr. Townsend and Mr. Hammond are pre-ministerial students.

The children made gifts to be sent to missions. The school chose as its main mission project the purchase of children's wheelchairs. Daily collections were used for that purpose. The goal was the price of one chair; this was exceeded, with nearly enough collected to purchase two chairs.

The pre-school department leader was Mrs. William Slusarczyk who was assisted by teachers and helpers Mrs. Robert Knott, Mrs. Rocco Uccellini, Mrs. James Vaglia, Mrs. Ray Brdar, Janet Dawson, Gloria Richards, Norma St. Espirt and Judy McClinton.

Mrs. Richard Rice was leader of the beginner department.

Man Sent To Jail For Purchasing Beer For Youths

LISBON — James E. Anderson, 21, of 306 Broadway, Wellsville, was sentenced to 30 days in Columbiana County Jail this morning for contributing to the delinquency of two Wellsville boys.

Anderson admitted before Judge Louis Tobin in Juvenile Court he bought beer in East Liverpool last night and he and the boys, both 15, drank it while driving around in a car.

Chief of Police John Hepner of Wellsville brought Anderson for the hearing on a complaint filed by James Miller, Juvenile Court probation officer.

Wellsville police apprehended Anderson and the boys about 1:45 a.m. today, but one of the boys got away. His mother brought him to the police station later to show officers how drunk the man's truck, officers said.

The mishap involved a 1963 tractor-trailer owned by the Williams Trucking Co. of Lisbon and operated by Paul L. Smith, 26, of East Rochester R.D. 1, and a 1965 truck driven by Walter R. Smith, 32, of Walker St., Glenmoor, officers said.

The East Rochester trucker said he swung left of center to make the turn onto the bridge, then stopped. The Glenmoor trucker, approaching from the opposite direction, also stopped.

As the East Rochester man proceeded, his vehicle bumped the other, police said.

The mishap damaged the left front of the tractor-trailer and intoxicated he was. A hearing the left side and rear of the for the juveniles was continued indefinitely.

As director, Mrs. Gates established the center's first drama company and has worked closely with its increasing activity in the area of folk music, including a special concert series.

MRS. MARIANA GATES Leaves For France Friday.

Before coming to New York she worked in public relations for a year with the Vanguard Playhouse at Detroit and was for four years (1956-1960) with the Army Special Services in Germany. Ohio 'Dollars For Scholars' Will Bid For New Chapters

LISBON — The Ohio project of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation of America, Inc., is aiming for 100 active CSFA chapters by this time next year.

Robert H. Longsworth of Carrollton, executive director and secretary, expressed this hope in an informal newsletter — the first in a series to school administrators all over the state.

James L. McBride, superintendent of Columbiana County schools, was among recipients. He said he feels "the CSFA program is splendid and should be widely adopted."

A former superintendent of Carroll County schools and former state representative, Longsworth reports there are about 40 chapters in Ohio and most of them made awards to 1966 graduates.

He said the East Liverpool area chapter, now in its fourth year, raised $27,500 and awarded 84 scholarships. He also mentioned:

Fredericktown, in Knox County, which raised $9,319 and awarded 17 scholarships in two years; Greenville, $4,581 and 11 scholarships; Kenton, which provided six awards from $2,105 in 1965 and this year made nine awards from $2,700; Morrow County, a countywide chapter, raised $6,000 this year and made 18 awards compared with $2,766 and 14 scholarships in 1965.

Longsworth said many chapters have just completed their fall drive until next Tuesday. Fire first campaign and the 1966 and police department pension checks also will be issued tomorrow.

Wolper Shut Out?

William L. Shirer's "Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," published in 1959, may have been a monumental best seller, but an ambitious three-hour filmed adaptation of it for television might never see the light of network screens.

A similar question hangs over a documentary treatment of Theodore H. White's post-World War II book, "Thunder Out of China."

This despite the fact that Xerox, foremost supporter of public affairs TV programming among the country's advertisers, would fully sponsor both of these productions.

Also despite the fact that the two programs will be turned out by David L. Wolper, the leading independent source of non-fiction TV.

It was Wolper, it will be recalled, who produced the award-winning "The Making of the President 1960" and its sequel, "The Making of the President 1964," both authored by Theodore H. White, the former aired by ABC, the latter by CBS.

Also it was Wolper who produced "Wall Street: Where the Money Is," an hour documentary aired last week by CBS. That one didn't help his cause much either at CBS or the other networks.

WOLPER SUBMITTED portions of the script to some Wall Street figures seen in the program for their advance approval. CBS News president Richard S. Salant conceded after the telecast that the network "goofed" in allowing it to be shown under such circumstances, as he felt violated journalistic ethics.

Xerox, according to a spokesman, is firmly committed to the Wolper production of a three-part "Third Reich" and a one-hour special based on White's book, despite what looks like a shutdown for the programs on all networks until at least next spring.

The official said that Xerox hoped to see the first third of the Shirer story aired before the end of this year, the second hour early in 1967 and the final episode in the fall of next year.

White is at Lake Como in Italy writing the script for the TV adaptation of his book. The sponsor hope to see it aired sometime in 1966-67.

AS IT HAS in the past, Xerox might assemble a "network" of its own for the programs by buying time on individual stations across the country. This was done, for instance, for the program "Let My People Go," about Israel.

NBC has a rigid policy against "outside" news and pub-

Scattered Paper Leads To Arrest Of Truck Driver

An East End man was fined $10 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge loose papers scattered from a load of trash which he was hauling on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." late Wednesday afternoon.

Henry Ward of 537 Virginia Ave. pleaded guilty to the charge signed by Patrolman Paul C. Blevins, who cited him at 4:46 p.m. The officer charged Ward failed to cover the load as required by city ordinances "and paper was spewing from the back" of the truck. The patrolman said Ward promised to clean up the litter.

Ward was lectured by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after he showed up seven minutes late for his scheduled hearing. Since the defendant had not posted an appearance bond, the court already had issued a bench warrant for his arrest. Ward said he had difficulty finding a parking place.

"I was here on time and so was the policeman," the court told Ward. "The next time you are ordered to appear in court at 9, you be here at 9."

Some Students Require Personal Help

A mother from Minnesota writes upon learning of the difficulties of her daughter, 10, in school: "I have asked the teacher if she couldn't give my daughter 15 or 20 minutes' time after school to help her with the things with which she is having the most trouble. But the teacher doesn't seem to care to be bothered. I feel this is her duty." I wonder how many parents expect like individual attention to their child at school. No doubt there is a number of other children who might profit from such extra individual help from the teacher.

Suppose the teacher with 30 or more children attempted to give special time after school to several of them individually. Perhaps the teacher often worries about the children who need such extra help from her.

BUT SHOULD we parents expect any teacher to spend such extra time with one or many children after school?

In some schools the program provides a period of the day when the teacher is available for extra individual help for children. Such provision may be very desirable. But in the average elementary classroom no such measures are provided.

To expect the teacher to remain after school to help one or several children could prove a great hardship on the teacher after a full day's work. Of course, many a teacher out of the goodness of her heart often does spend extra time with some of the children and may be discouraged that more children

My bulletins "Helping Child With Lessons at Home," "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School," and "Home Helps in Reading I and II, Spelling, Arithmetic and Handwriting," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

But I wish to entreat parents not to expect any teacher to spend extra hours with any particular child from a sense of duty. I wonder what teachers and parents reading the foregoing think about this problem and what their experiences related thereto have been.

What worries many a conscientious teacher most is her inability to give as much individual attention to each child as she sees he needs.

In 1943, Britain's Sir Winston Churchill vowed that British forces would fight until the Japanese submit or, in his words, "Bite the dust."

In 1952, the McCarran-Walter Act, limiting immigration and removing the absolute ban on Asiatic and Pacific immigrants, was passed over President Harry Truman's veto.

Ten years ago — The greatest commercial air disaster up until that date occurred when two airliners crashed into the Grand Canyon in northern Arizona apparently after a mid-air collision. All 128 persons aboard both planes died.

Five years ago — An Argentine transcontinental airliner crashed in Buenos Aires Airport. Twenty-three of the 35 persons aboard were killed.

On this date

In 1777, the British occupied Staten Island in New York.

In 1941, German forces captured the Russian city of Minsk during World War II.

Today is Thursday, June 30. The 181st day of 1966. There are 184 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1906, President Theodore Roosevelt signed two controversial bills. The Pure Food and Drugs Act provided penalties for misbranding and adulteration of foods and drugs. The Meat Inspection Act provided for government inspection of slaughtering processes in the preparation of meats to be shipped across state lines.

Junior Editors Quiz on BEAUTY

QUESTION: Who was the prettiest lady in history?

ANSWER: Our questioner has given us a bit of a problem here. How could we answer without having looked at all the beautiful women who ever lived? And if we did find one, she would be only our favorite. Others might disagree. Standards of beauty are different in different countries, and in different historical periods. We have, however, selected three lovely ladies which, at different times, have been considered as being tops in feminine attractiveness. The distinguished looking lady at upper left is Queen Nefertiti, the wife of the Egyptian King Akhenaton, who ascended his throne in 1370 B. C. Her finely chiseled, aristocratic face reflects the Egyptian ideal of beauty. The lady with the flowing hair is from a picture of Venus by Botticelli, painted in the days of the Italian Renaissance. Venus, of course, was a goddess, not an actual person. We are all familiar with the charm and beauty of Jacqueline Kennedy, deserving a top place in any period.

FOR YOU TO DO: Inside the heart, in the fourth square, we leave a space for you to draw a beautiful lady of your own choice. We give marks for the top of her head, center of eyes, nose and chin.

Tracy Shepps of Collegeville, Pa., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Key Medicare Questions Answered

This is the last of a series by Robert V. Harris, social security district manager here, on how medicare will work when it begins in July. The information is based on "Your Medicare Handbook," the guide that has been issued to all medicare beneficiaries during June.

By ROBERT V. HARRIS

Even after everything about medicare has been explained, people are still apt to have questions about specific parts of the program.

Therefore, this final article is devoted to some of the questions that may arise. If you have questions about these questions, get in touch with the social security office.

Hospital Insurance Plan

Q.—What if I am away from home in another state—will my hospital insurance still pay for my care?

A.—Yes. Your hospital insurance protects you no matter where you are in the United States. Your health insurance card is the proof of your protection.

Q.—Will hospital insurance pay for my care no matter where I go to get the services?

A.—Your hospital insurance will pay for covered services you receive from any hospital, extended care facility, or home health agency that is participating in the medicare program.

Also, in an emergency, if you are taken to a hospital which is not participating, your hospital insurance will pay for covered services you receive until emergency services in the non-participating hospital are no longer necessary from a medical standpoint.

Q.—Will hospital insurance help to pay for my care if I am in a general hospital on July 1, 1966, when hospital insurance starts?

A.—Yes. Your first "spell of illness," which provides up to 90 days of inpatient hospital benefits, will start on that day, and hospital insurance will begin paying toward your care. However, no payment will be made for days of hospitalization before July 1 and the deductible for which you will be responsible is the first $40 of expenses incurred July 1 or after.

Q.—IS THERE a special limitation for people who are in a qualified psychiatric or tuberculosis hospital when their hospital insurance protection starts?

A.—Yes. For a person in such a hospital on his first day of coverage, the number of days for which hospital insurance can pay in the first "spell of illness" is reduced by the total number of days the person has been in the hospital during the previous 90 days.

For example, if a person's hospital insurance starts July 1, 1966, and he was in a psychiatric or tuberculosis hospital on that day and the 90 days before, hospital insurance could pay for only 40 days in that "spell of illness."

A.—If my doctor says I can go home from the hospital before I have used up the 90 days, will my hospital insurance continue to pay for my care if I want to stay in the hospital a few more days?

A.—It will if the hospital is participating in the medicare program.

Q.—Will hospital insurance cover only those services that are medically necessary. Your doctor would need to certify that the hospital services are required before medicare can make payment.

The law also requires participating hospitals to have a utilization review committee made up of physicians and other professional people. This committee reviews hospital stays at various times, and in some cases may discuss with the doctor whether there is further need for hospital care.

These provisions are not intended to deprive anyone of needed care, but to encourage the most effective use of hospital facilities by keeping down unnecessary hospital care.

Q.—IF I AM injured in connection with my work and my medical expenses are covered by the workmen's compensation law, will my medicare hospital insurance also pay?

A.—No. Your hospital insurance does not pay for any services for which payments have been (or will be) made under a workmen's compensation program.

Q.—If I am out of the United States and have to go to a hospital, will my hospital insurance pay anything toward the cost of my care?

A.—No. The hospital insurance program pays only for hospital and medical services furnished in the United States, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam and American Samoa. (A minor exception is that emergency inpatient hospital services in a foreign hospital may be paid for if you are in the United States when an emergency arises and a foreign hospital which can provide appropriate care, for example, in Canada, is closer than one in the United States.)

Q.—If I can't pay my share of the hospital bill, will medicare pay its share anyway?

A.—Yes. If you find that you are unable to pay your part of the hospital bill, get in touch with the people in your local public assistance office. You may qualify for help under a state assistance program, such as medical assistance for the aged.

Q.—I belong to a group practice plan which operates its own hospital. Will medicare pay for my care in that hospital?

A.—It will if the hospital is participating in the medicare program.

Q.—Will hospital insurance pay anything toward the cost of my care in a Christian Science sanatorium?

A.—Under special rules, the hospital insurance program covers both hospital and extended care services ordinarily furnished to inpatients of a sanatorium operated, or listed and certified, by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Medical Insurance Plan

Q.—Is there a dollar limit to the amount my medical insurance will pay each year?

A.—No. There is no dollar limit on the amount that your medical insurance will pay for necessary care. The only exception is the yearly limit for treatment outside of a hospital for mental illness. The maximum payment that medical inurance can make in any year

$50 deductible is met, is $250, or 50 per cent of the reasonable charges, whichever is less.

Q.—If I need an operation and my family doctor refers me to another doctor to perform the operation, will my medical insurance cover the fees from both my own doctor and the surgeon, too?

A.—Yes. It also covers the fees for the services of other doctors, such as anesthesiologists, radiologists, or pathologists who may be required in connection with your operation and further hospital care. Thus, you may receive covered services from a number of physicians in connection with your stay in the hospital. The bills may be sent to you by these physicians or the hospital may bill you on their behalf.

Q.—IF I HAVE a number of small medical bills, should I wait until they go over the $50 deductible to put in a claim for medical insurance?

A.—Yes. We believe that most people will prefer to wait until the bills go over $50 since no payment can be made until the $50 deductible is met. Also, by waiting you avoid filling out extra claim forms.

Q.—What happens if I want to assign my medical insurance benefit to a doctor, but he doesn't want to accept an assignment?

A.—A doctor is not under any obligation to accept an assignment of your medical insurance benefits. If he prefers to you should either get an itemized receipted bill from him or ask him to complete Part II of your Request for Payment form. Then send in the claim for payment.

Q.—If I assign the medical insurance benefit to my doctor, does this mean that all my future medical benefit claims must also be handled on an assignment basis, or can I make future claims myself?

A.—Each claim is handled separately. You may make some claims yourself when you pay the bill and use the payment to the doctor method for other claims. The choice depends on how you and your doctor agree to have the payment made.

Frequently it may be more convenient to use the payment to the doctor method for larger bills, since under this method the patient does not have to pay the doctor and wait to be reimbursed.

of your Request for Payment form. Then send in the claim for payment.
